

1 The most exciting exercise

Fill in the correct form.

basic form

comparative superlative

happy popular bad

higher

best calmest
most efficient

Grammar Reference: Adjectives, pages 174-175

2 Have you ever ...?

Complete the answers with the correct form of 'have'. Don't forget to use the correct pronoun.

Example: Have you ever been to Australia? - No, I haven't, but my mother has.

- 1. Have you ever been to Edinburgh? - No, ..., but Peter ...
2. Have you ever studied French? - No, ..., but my brothers ...
3. Have you ever read a book by John Updike? - No, ..., but Gisela ...
4. Have your colleagues ever travelled to Italy? - No, ..., but the president ...
5. Have you ever seen our customer's office in London? - No, ..., but the managing director ...
6. Have you ever had a meeting with Mr. Bright? - No, ..., but my assistant ...

3 Present perfect or simple past?

Can you answer these questions?

- 1. Where did you go last summer? ... (New Zealand / last summer)
2. Have your colleagues travelled to India? ... (No)
3. When were you in Italy? ... (1995)
4. Has the regional manager sent the annual report to the Austrian office? ... (Yes)
5. When did your uncle arrive in London? ... (last Friday)
6. Have your employees studied Spanish? ... (No)

Grammar Reference: Present perfect / simple past, page 81

4 Art of the past

Fill in the gaps with the correct past tense form.

Anja, an art dealer, ... (go) to the art convention in Basel, Switzerland last summer. This convention is one of the most famous art fairs in the world. Anja ... (be) there for three days. She ... (stay) with her former colleague Daniela. Daniela and Anja ... (visit) over 20 galleries at the convention. They ... (learn) about the newest trends in the art world. Anja ... (purchase) some of the most expensive paintings at the convention from a well-known Armenian artist. The Armenian art was more successful this year than last year. Anja and Daniela ... (attend) the convention in 1998 and 2000. They plan to return in 2002.