

1 Cars: American style

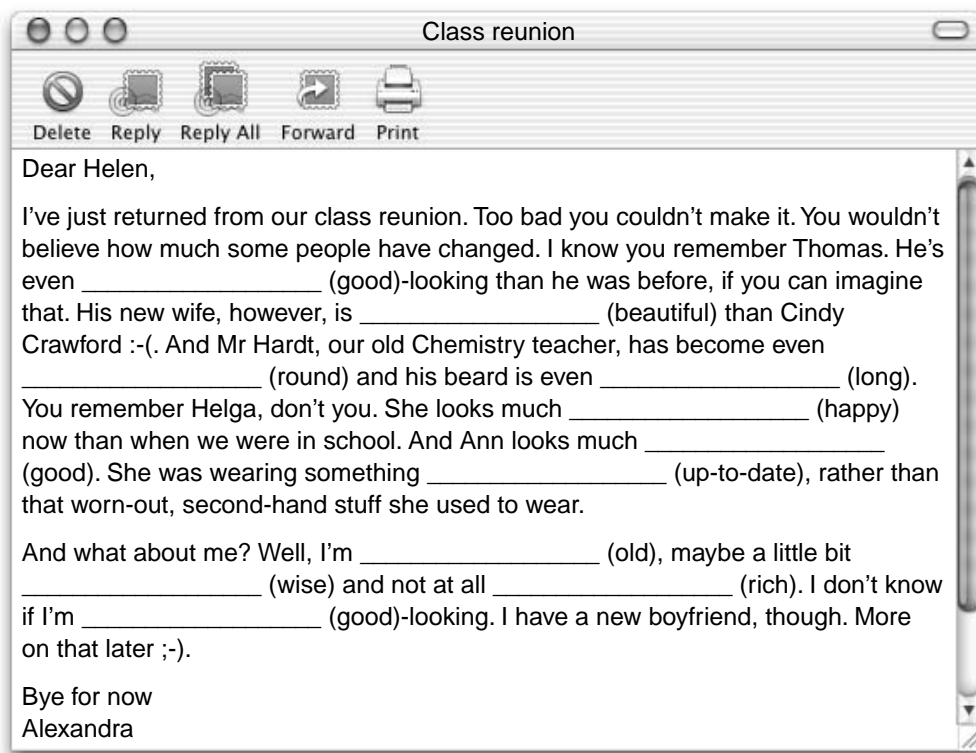

American English has many different words to describe a car. Match the American term on the left with the British term on the right.

American	British
windshield	petrol tank
fender	bonnet
brake lights	windscreen
hood	tyre
gas tank	indicators
blinkers	wing
tire	rear lights

2 Class reunion

You just went to your class reunion. Below is an e-mail to an English exchange student who couldn't make it. Fill in the blanks describing how the students and teachers have changed.

3 The present perfect with 'since' and 'for'

You use the present perfect to talk about things which began in the past and continue up to the moment of speaking. Using the cues below, write sentences using the present perfect with 'since' or 'for'. For more help, check the Looking at language box on page 27.

Example: (I, play, Guitar, 20 years) I have played the guitar for 20 years.

- (we, live, Leipzig, May 2000) _____
- (I, work, BMW, over seven years) _____
- (she, study, USA, 1999) _____
- (they, drive, Italy, every summer, 1980) _____
- (he, smoke, 15 years) _____
